Advanced Dermatology and Cosmetic Surgery Partners with Anodyne Health

Atlanta, GA. – February 7, 2009 – Anodyne Health, a leading provider of revenue cycle management solutions for the healthcare industry, has recently partnered with Advanced Dermatology & Cosmetic Surgery, headquartered in Maitland, Florida. Advanced Dermatology & Cosmetic Surgery was looking for a solution that would enhance communication between the management team and the physicians within their group.

Advanced Dermatology & Cosmetic Surgery was founded in 1989. Today, it is the largest dermatology practice in the country, with 90 experienced physicians, physician assistants, and nurse practitioners that provide care at over 55 offices throughout the United States. These providers specialize in complete care for the skin, hair, and nails.

Gia Concannon, Director of Billing at Advanced Dermatology & Cosmetic Surgery said, "Management communication with our physicians is a primary goal and essential to a healthy relationship. With Anodyne, we will be able to quickly and effectively communicate on a wide range of data points that are important to the physicians. Having their unique views and reports available will give them immediate access to their individual 'practice' within our large organization."

"Anodyne's business intelligence tools allow business users to gain a total command of performance across the entire revenue cycle continuum without the involvement of IT resources," stated Michael Funk, CEO of Anodyne Health. "Also, with our application's ability to quickly produce rich visualizations that can easily be disseminated, Advanced Dermatology & Cosmetic Surgery will be able to significantly improve communication practice-wide."
