Physician Oncology Services Partners with Anodyne Health

Atlanta, GA. – May 20, 2008 – Anodyne Health, a leading provider of revenue cycle management solutions for the healthcare industry, recently partnered with Physician Oncology Services (POS) located in Atlanta, Georgia. POS chose Anodyne's business intelligence (BI) solutions both for their interactivity, and their ability to produce rich data visualizations.

POS unites the greatest radiation oncology centers and physicians in the United States, creating a network of elite physicians who provide exceptional care to cancer patients. With their experienced management, cutting edge technology, and clinical excellence, POS is significantly improving the lives of their patients. POS tracks patient outcomes and shares best practices with all of their physicians in order to ensure the continuity and expansion of outstanding care.

Anodyne Analytics™ provides unprecedented visibility into all areas of the revenue cycle. With its unique filtering capabilities, business professionals can analyze their data in ways they never dreamed possible, without the assistance of technical resources. Wendy Montembeau, Senior Financial Analyst at Physician Oncology Services stated, "Anodyne Analytics™ enables you to see trends very quickly and it shows you what path to go down. I now spend less time compiling data and more time analyzing it."

Michael Funk, CEO of Anodyne Health said, "Anodyne's BI solutions will give Physician Oncology Services a potent new toolset to better analyze and manage their revenue cycle processes. The rich, graphical visualizations will allow them to quickly capture meaningful insights, never dreamed possible, thus leading to better decision-making."
