Atlanta, GA. – March 18, 2008 – Anodyne Health, a leading provider of revenue cycle management solutions for the healthcare industry, announced today that its business intelligence (BI) solutions will be implemented at University Physicians, the faculty practice plan at the University of Missouri in Columbia. By utilizing Anodyne's analytics tools, University Physicians will have unparalleled visibility into all areas of their revenue cycle allowing them to manage their organization more effectively.

University Physicians is mid-Missouri's largest multi-specialty group consisting of 440 physicians. They also bill for 112 non-physician providers. University Physicians provides world-class care at numerous clinics in Columbia and communities throughout Missouri. "We were looking for a solution that enabled our users across multiple roles to easily access the information they need to perform their jobs. We found that Anodyne's solutions were much easier to use, allowed deeper analysis, and provided richer graphical insight than the other options we researched," stated Herb Stanley, Associate Director of Financial Services at University Physicians. "With Anodyne, we will be able to more quickly identify revenue cycle problems across our organization while drastically reducing the reports we generate. This will ultimately drive cost savings within our organization while making our people at all levels, from the central business office to the departments, more self-sufficient and effective in their roles."

"We are confident that our solutions can help University Physicians increase their revenue and lower their costs, making them more competitive and able to direct more resources to providing even better healthcare for the communities they serve," commented Michael Funk, CEO of Anodyne Health.
